Toyota

Sakichi Toyoda was the first founder of the Toyota Industries Corporation or TICO during nineteen twenty six. TICO has expanded the scope of its business domains since the companies beginning to promote diversification, such as material handling machines, logistics solutions, electronics, textile equipment and machinery, engines, vehicles, car air-conditioning compressors and automobiles.

About Toyota Material Handling, U.S.A. Inc.

The TMHU has ever since the year 2002, been the supplier for North America's top selling forklift. Together with the huge variety of high-quality lift trucks marketed under the Toyota brand name, the company has extended their industrial machine solutions to include Automated Guided Vehicles and tow tractors. TMHU is celebrating its 45th year within industry in North America.

Quality is the hallmark of the Toyota Production System. It is practiced at each Toyota manufacturing facilities like TIEM. During the year 2011, Industry Weekly magazine named TIEM a North American Best Plant. TIEM follows the ISO 14001 standard set by the International Organization for Standardization and is also a member of the National Safety Council. Since it opened in the year 1990, TIEM has manufactured more than four hundred thousand Toyota lift trucks.

Toyota is globally recognized for being committed to quality in customer service. This dedication has been extended all over Canada and the United States. There are more than seventy authorized Toyota Industrial Equipment dealers and throughout North America there are over 220 dealership locations. Toyota dealers are well skilled and capable of offering complete support and client service. They offer one-stop shopping for both second-hand and new lift trucks, rentals, fleet servicing, financing and service and parts.

The company of Toyota has been dedicated to offering excellent quality care. They could deliver on short notice any replacement part to help minimize any potential downtime. Toyota dealers are pleased to answer any concerns or questions set forth by their clients and are also a great resource if you are thinking of becoming a potential client and need to determine the best type of machine for your particular requirements. The dealerships provide a wide array of second-hand, brand new and refurbished equipment in order to offer you the best choices. Renting machines is a great way to try before buying. This way you could test the machine in the environment you would be using it in to determine if it would be right and sufficient.

On their company web site, Toyota offers plenty of information. Visit your local dealership to see the latest equipment, have any questions answered and experience their product line first hand.